IN MEMORIAM.

Impressive Services Held Yesterday Afternoon in Memory of the Late Kaiser Wilhelm—The Victoria Crowded.

The services held in The Victoria theatre yesterday afternoon by the German residents of this city in memory of their deceased monarch, Kaiser Wilhelm, were of a most impressive and solemn character, and testified in the highest degree the veneration of our German residents for their dead Emperor and their unbounded loyalty to the "Fatherland." During the day all flags throughout the city drooped at half-mast, and in the afternoon many of the business men closed their stores as a silent acknowledgment of sympathy with the German nation in its hour of sorrow. As already announced in THE COLONIST, the proceedings commenced at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon with

THE PROCESSION.

At the hour named a large concourse of citizens gathered at the city hall, where the procession formed under the direction of Grand Marshal Kurtz, and started in the following order:

The Dominion flag, draped in mourning and supported by German citizens.
The German flag, draped in mourning, carried by Mr. H. Behnsen and supported by members of the Liederkanz.
The Queen City Band.
Members of "C" Battery, four abreast, commanded by Lieut. Ogilvie.
U. S. Consul Col. Stevens, escorted by Marshal Kurtz and Mr. Strouss.
The Liederkranz Society.
German residents.
Supt. Roycraft of the Provincial Police.
Supt. Bloomfield of the City Police.
Mayor Grant and Members of the Municipal Council.
Civic Officials.
General Public.

In this order the procession passed along Douglas street, down Yates, along Government, up Fort to Douglas, and thence to the Theatre, the band playing "The Dead March in Saul." The streets along the line of route were thronged with people, and viewed from a slight distance the procession made quite an imposing appearance, the Battery men being in full uniform with white, brass-tipped helmets, the U.S. Consul and superintendents of police in official dress, and all the Germans wearing white gloves and crape rosettes. Long before the procession reached the theatre the spacious building was crowded from pit to dome, hundreds being unable to gain admission. Police were stationed along the route to keep the streets clear, and in the neighborhood of the theatre the officers had a busy time in maintaining order. The crowd kept crowding in until gallery, dress circle, parquette, boxes, passage ways and even the wings on the stage were literally packed, and those who were late had to turn away from the doors deeply disappointed.

In the parquette were Lieutenant-Governor Nelson, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Glenny Anderson and Mr. Herbert Stanton, and in the left-hand stage box Hon. R. Dunsmuir and family, the front rows of seats in the parquette being reserved for members of the judiciary, the clergy, members of the legislature, prominent citizens and other invited guests. Amongst those gentlemen on the stage were noticed Rev. P. McF. McLeod, Rev. Dr. Reid, Hon. Jno. Robson, Hon. J. H. Turner, Hon. F. G. Vernon, Hon. Theo. Davie, Mr. Speaker Pooley, Lieut.-Col. Holmes, Lieut.-Col. Wolfenden, Staff-Surgeon Matthews, U. S. Consul Stevens, Captain Halifax, Lieuts. Stokes, Le Marchant, and Tizard, and Staff-Surgeon Anderson, of H. M. S. Wild Swan, Captains Jones, Shears and Dorman, of the B. C. G. A., Lieut. Ogilvie of "C" Battery, Mayor Grant, Councillors Braden, Vigelius, Kelly, Coughlan and Penwill, Supt. Roycraft, Supt. Bloomfield, civic officials, members of the Liederkranz, Messrs. J. Sehl, C. Strouss, Jno. Weiler, F. Sehl, John Kurtz and other prominent citizens of German nationality.

THE DECORATIONS.

The stage had been appropriately dressed in mourning under the direction of Mr. J. Sehl, chairman of the committee, and its general appearance was most favorably commented upon. The front, rear, wings and foot-light rail were festooned with deep black, relieved with bands and loops of white linen, German and Dominion flags with bows of crape being placed to the right and left of the stage, respectively, a life-size portrait of the deceased Kaiser, framed in crape, occupying a prominent position in the rear, whilst in front, facing the audience, were portraits of the late Emperor and present Emperor—father and son. Immediately in the centre of the stage was placed the catafalque, covered with a black velvet pall, and surmounted by cross swords and the German flag, candelabra filled with wax candles being placed at the head and foot, shedding a subdued light upon the scene. The gas was turned only half-on, and, viewed in the dim light, the stage presented a mournful and solemn aspect befitting the occasion. The chairman of the committee, Mr. Jacob Sehl, having taken his seat, and order being restored, the proceedings commenced, a solemn stillness pervading the vast assemblage.

The exercises were opened by the playing of the funeral march by Mr. S. Wilson, after which Mr. Jacob Sehl, president, said he was pleased to see so many of their English speaking friends present, to take part in the solemn services. They had assembled to join in spirit with their brethren in Germany to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased Emperor William, who was the head of the German nation. Although they had adopted this country as their home, and its manners, customs and laws as their own, yet there remained a spark of love and sympathy in the heart of every good German for the home and country which gave them birth. They had therefore assembled to express condolence and sympathy to the bereaved royal family and German nation at large. As the occasion was of a national German character some of the speakers would address them in the German language.

Mr. Sehl then reiterated the foregoing in German, after which he called upon the Rev. McLeod to engage in prayer, when that rev. gentleman offered up an impressive appeal to the Ruler of all nation on behalf of the bereaved family and nation.

The Leiderkranz Society, under direction of Mr. Pferdner, sang "Wie sie so sanft ruhen" very sweetly, after which the president called upon

Rev. P. McF. McLeod, who on coming forward said: We are met together today to join with our German fellow citizens in paying respect to the memory of the great monarch who this day is being carried to the narrow house appointed for all living amidst the tears of a whole nation. Germans are proverbial for their devotion to the Fatherland and it would have been surprising indeed if they had not in this city taken some means of expressing their loyalty and affection to the monarch who might so justly receive the title of the Father of his Country. Those of us who are British subjects have a good right to share in this solemn ceremony, not merely because of the common brotherhood which makes it incumbent on us to weep with those who weep, but also because we be kinsfolk having a common Saxon origin and because of the close relationship between the reigning Houses. We claim then a special right to share the sorrow of the great German nation in mourning the departure of the late Emperor and I count it a high honor to be permitted to-day to voice the sympathy of Britain as represented in this assembly. The late Emperor came to the throne at a serious crisis in the history of the Kingdom of Prussia. That nation had compelled the admiration of the world through its heroic battling for existence amidst the strifes of Europe. It had passed through such trials and vicissitudes as few nations had encountered and had emerged from these reverses stronger than before. During the reign of the late Emperor's brother it had been distracted by internal strifes and shared in the throes of revolution which threatened monarchical institutions everywhere. The late Emperor had no sympathy with modern ideas and was by no means a general favorite when called upon to ascend the throne, but as soon as that great dignity was put upon him it was found that he possessed the characteristics of a great monarch and that he was well fitted for the great work put into his hands to accomplish. He had no reputation for great personal genius, but he had the practical sagacity enabling him to discern genius and utilize it to the advantage of the state. Hence, two years after ascending the throne, he called Otto Von Bismarck to be his prime minister, acknowledged on all hands to be the greatest statesman the world has seen in modern times; and when it became necessary to organize and strengthen the army Von Moltke, the greatest strategist of the age, was found to lead and guide the conquering hosts. When he came to the throne Prussia was a somewhat insignificant power hemmed in on every side by mightier nations. The late Emperor when answering an address presented to him on his accession to the throne said "I believe I have been preserved for some great purpose," and looking back we see how that presentiment was realized. Whereas before his reign began the German people failed to hold the position in Europe to which they were entitled by their genius and their numbers, through the instrumentality of the late Emperor they have become a dominating power whose favor is assiduously sought and whose frown is dreaded. The Emperor became the champion and representative of German unity and what blessings are yet to flow from the great united German people, who can prophesy? A nation whose literary genius has already made all the world its debtors—a nation whose skill in the arts has made them formidable rivals of Britain in the strife for commercial supremacy—a nation which has sent its sons and daughters to all parts of the world carrying their natural characteristics with them—must have a glorious career before it and must become a mighty factor in the onward march of the race. But while we think of the departed as a monarch we respect him also as a man. Frederick the Great was a man of extraordinary genius and did great things for his country, but his personal character and conduct was such that he failed to win the love of his subjects. Many monarchs may occupy a larger place in history because of their dazzling achievements, but the late Emperor will be loved and honored through all time for his Christian character and his pure domestic life. After all, true greatness lies in character, and the multitudes weeping at the Emperor's grave to-day are thinking more of the scene around the dying bed than of the earthly glory of his reign. When the 23rd psalm was read in his hearing, he said "It is wonderful," and well he might, for it pictured his own life story and gave him the secret assurance of entering into his rest. We, too, have a sovereign who is entwined about our hearts, not so much because of her dignity and glory as the Sovereign of Britain, but because of her beautiful womanhood and the example she has set throughout her long reign to all her subjects. God bless her in this hour of double sorrow, for she mourns with her daughter who watches by the present Emperor at St. Remo. In our ignorance it seemed that the present Emperor was needed to consolidate the great empire his father had founded, and that he had qualities specially fitting him for the task. But we see death has his clutch upon his throat and we must bow in submission as we trust the German nation is bowing to-day, saying "Not our will but thine be done." God will take care of the great nation he has led thus far by such wonderful paths. Shall we not then learn the solemn lesson of our own mortality?

Our lives are rivers, gliding free
To that unfathomed, boundless sea,
The silent grave.
Thither all earthly pomp and boast
Roll to be swallowed up and lost
In one dark wave.

Thither the mighty torrents stray,
Thither the brook pursues its way
And tinkling rill,
There all are equal! Side by side
The poor man and the son of pride
Lie calm and still.

Mr. E. Pferdner, speaking in German, said: Honor to whom honor is due! We who are far from home, come here to-day to do honor to the man who, in the history of our nation, has filled his place so well and with such marked ability. Every German, no matter where, will feel the loss Germany has sustained, yes, Europe even, in the person of the late Emperor William. Born at the time of Prussia's deepest humiliation, the event of the year 1806 had a marked effect on his after life. In one day he saw swept away, at Jena, the work of his forefathers, the work of hundreds of years. He saw his father and mother insulted, driven out of their capitol, their home. He saw the armies of Napoleon sweep over Germany, destroying as they went. He saw and took active part in the wars against that same Napoleon from 1813 to 1815. It was at Waterloo he won the first distinction for personal bravery. After becoming King in 1861 he surrounded himself with men who had the capacity to govern, to make plans and to forward the high aim which he early strove to realize. Germany then was a country divided in itself, one small state jealous of the other. In 1864 commenced the war against Denmark for the restoration of Schleswig-Holstein to Germany. In 1866 followed the war for supremacy against Austria, as against Prussia. Sadowa was a grand and signal victory. After peace was concluded it left Prussia at the head of German affairs, and Napoleon the III., jealous of the growing influence, sought once more to humble Prussia, as his uncle had done before him. A flimsy pretext for war was soon found, and war declared. We see the now seventy-year old man, appealing to his people and Germany for help. We see him once more humble himself on bended knees at the grave of his mother, praying to the God of battles and of nations for success. Conscious of his good cause, of the support of his people, the aged monarch in person takes the field against his and his country's enemy. The end of that war is well known. On the 18th January, 1871, he was crowned

THE KAISER'S FUNERAL.

Solemn and Impressive Services in the Cathedral--Sermon Delivered Beside the Coffin.

Twelve Senior Regimental Commanders Shoulder the Coffin---Bismarck Absent.

Huge Pillars Erected at Street Crossings, Draped and Surmounted With Prussian Eagles.

[Special to THE COLONIST.]

BERLIN, March 16.—The weather was severely cold to-day, but arrangements for the funeral of the late Emperor were carried out to the letter.

ALONG THE ROUTE.

Troops, wearing cloaks, were ranged four deep in front of the Cathedral and along the route, and hundreds of thousands of spectators occupied the space behind them. Every window on Unter der Linden was covered with mournings, flags or black drapery, and at the street crossings were massive pillars draped with black and surmounted with Prussian eagles. The aspect of the route of the procession was most imposing, and entirely in keeping with the deep sorrow and reverence of the people.

TRIUMPHAL ARCH.

The middle of the road was strewn with gravel and fir branches and at the Parisea Platz were large crape festoons entwined with laurels. At Brandenburg there was draped an immense triumphal arch, and on the front bore the inscription "God bless you."

SERMON DELIVERED AT THE COFFIN.

The procession left the cathedral at one o'clock; owing to severe weather the Emperor Frederick was not present. Dr. Koegel delivered his sermon while standing by the side of the coffin. His text being Luke ii., 29, 30: "Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace according to thy word, for mine eyes have seen thy salvation."

IN THE CATHEDRAL.

The services in the cathedral were most solemn and impressive when the soft organ prelude began. The court chamberlain and the cabinet ministers took their positions behind the abouret bearing the insignia of the empire. General Pape, holding the imperial standard, then stationed himself at the head of the coffin, Count Lehndorff and Prince Radizwill, the late Emperor's aide-de-camps, with drawn swords on either side, and the adjutant-general and the other aide-de-camps standing together at the foot of the coffin. While the organ was still playing, the royalties entered the cathedral, Prince William arriving at noon. At the signal of the chief master of ceremonies the organ broke forth in swelling tones and the services began. Prince William stood in the middle of the nave immediately behind the imperial standard. Beside him were the Kings of Saxony, Belgium, and Roumelia and close by stood the Grand Duke and Henry of Baden and Princes of the Royal house of Prussia, Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria, the Czarowitch, and the Grand Dukes Michael and Nicholas of Russia, the Prince of Wales and the Princes of Naples, Denmark and Greece, each wearing the uniform of his country. The Princes of Bavaria, the Duke of Hesse and other notables and foreign representatives, including Gen. Billot, of the French army, with his suite occupied the next rows in the nave. The diplomatic pews were crowded. Doctor Koegel, who stood beside the coffin, concluded the service with the Lord's prayer, and the congregation then sang the hymn, "Henn ich einmal soll scheiden." The choir then executed a molet from Gounods "Tod Jesu," and the members of the "Und Akedeinc" rendered "Wie herrlich ist die neve welt," and at 12:45 Doctor Koegel pronounced the benediction, the infantry stationed outside firing volleys, meanwhile, and the ceremony closed with the singing of "Holy, Holy is the Lord." The procession to escort the body to the mausoleum then began to form.

THE CORTEGE.

Twelve senior regimental commanders shouldered the coffin, the high court officials walking on either side of the ministers of state carrying, on cushions, the imperial crown and sceptre above the coffin. The imperial standard was borne by General Pape, on each side of whom walked an officer with drawn sword. The royalties took positions assigned to them and the court left the cathedral in due order. The disposition of the cortege was strictly in accordance with the programme with the exception of a change made necessary by the regrettable absence of Prince Bismarck and Count Von Moltke. The scene was a memorable one. The military display was magnificent and the escort of the dead impressed the elite of the imperial army.

AN IMPRESSIVE SIGHT.

The sight of the chief mourner and heir to the throne accompanied by three Kings of German blood and the most illustrious representatives of the various courts of Europe, gave the scene great impressiveness, wending its way through Unter Der Linden. The procession reached the Brandenburg gate soon after two o'clock. The demeanor of the countless spectators was excellent. The silence was unbroken and all remained uncovered until the coffin passed in the Sieges Alle. The procession here stopped and the Crown Prince who had thus far walked immediately behind the funeral car, entered a carriage accompanied by the Kings of Saxony, Belgium and Roumelia. The other royalties at the same time entered the carriages following and the procession changed, the Garde du Corps assuming the place of the escort and officers of lower rank relieving the pall-bearers. The cortege moved onward and reached Charlottenburg at 3:15. The body received by the pastor at Charlottenburg, Doctor Koegel read the prayer, "Blessed is the man who resisteth temptation," and the Lord's prayer, closing the solemn service with a benediction. The imperial family and mourners then withdrew, the generals taking a farewell by lying a hand, as if to salute, upon the coffin. The artillery then announced that the ceremony was over.

THE EMPEROR WATCHES THE PROCESSION.

From a window of the palace salon that overlooks the park, Emperor Frederick watched the procession, and remained in the same spot until the roar of artillery closed the ceremonies. He wore the uniform of a general, with sash of the Black Eagle.

The Empress Victoria and the Royal Princess were present at the service at the mausoleum and returned to the palace at 4 o'clock.

FLORAL WREATHS.

Gen. Billot this morning placed on the dead Emperor's coffin a superb garland, and the representatives of Russia and the Netherlands contributed wreaths.

A STRANGE STORY.

Inoculation With Leprosy of a Convicted Murderer.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—The Pacific Advertiser, of Honolulu, has a story to the effect that Kenan, the murderer who was sentenced to death in 1884, had the last penalty commuted on condition that he should undergo inoculation with virus of leprosy in the interest of pathological science. Dr. Arning, then under engagement with the government to investigate the disease, according to the Microbe theory of Koch, performed the operation. The scar healed up without any sign of the disease developing. Now, however, within less than four years, it is said that tokens of leprosy have begun to appear in the unfortunate young man. He took the risk of dying painfully and horribly by inches in order to prolong the life he had forfeited to the majesty of the law.

Laurier to Bring On the Newfoundland Annexation Question—Election Appeals Dismissed—Bucket Shops to be Made Illegal.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, March 16.—The unrestricted reciprocity debate was very flat to-day, Charlton and Davin being the principal speakers.

Laurier is to bring up the Newfoundland annexation question without delay. It is hardly thought he will make it a question of want of confidence.

In the supreme court to-day Sir Adolphe Caron and M. Choquette's election appeals were dismissed and the two members sustained.

The government will present a bill to parliament making bucket shops illegal and giving power to the police to enter at any time premises where bucket shop operations are being carried on.

LONDON, March 16.—The immense Inman steamship City of New York, which was launched at the Clyde yesterday afternoon, ran aground and is still fast to the bottom of the river.

Ordered to Return.

PARIS, March 16.—General Loperal, minister of war, has ordered General Boulanger to return to Clermont Ferrand. If he refuses to do so he will probably be arrested.

Requiem Service.

A requiem service for the late German Emperor was held in the English Church to-day. Premier Tirard and M. Floquerns, minister of foreign affairs, were present, and representatives of President Carnot. All of the foreign diplomats, including the entire German embassy at present in the city, the presidents of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, and many other prominent persons were in attendance.

Carnot's Father Dead.

Senator Carnot, father of the President of the French Republic, is dead.

Dr. Mackenzie Threatened.

BERLIN, March 16.—Dr. Mackenzie is in receipt of a large number of menacing letters and Emperor Frederick has, in consequence, ordered special measures to be taken for his protection.

SHOT IN A HOUSE OF ILL FAME.

Desperate Struggle Between Two Officers in New Mexico.

RATON, N. M., March 14.—This morning at 8 o'clock Deputy Sheriff G. W. Cook shot and killed Deputy United States Marshal Frank Catlin in a house of ill fame in this city. The killing was the result of hard feelings which originated over the last election, since when it has been regarded as only a question of time when one would meet death at the hands of the other. Catlin had been drinking hard all night, and at the hour mentioned the men went to the house for the purpose of serving a warrant on the inmates. While there a dispute arose over an arrest made by one of them a few days before. Both pulled revolvers. Cook grabbed Catlin's right arm, and Catlin seized Cook's pistol. In this position they struggled about the room for some time, when Catlin's pistol was discharged, the ball grazing the other man's face. Cook succeeded in getting the pistol pointed at Catlin, when he fired, the ball striking him under the left arm and shattering the shoulder blade. Cook then fired three more shots into the wounded man's head, scattering his brains all over the room. Catlin lived an hour, but in an unconscious condition. Cook then walked out and gave himself up and was lodged in jail. Both men have a great number of followers, and it is feared more trouble will result over the shooting.

C. P. R. TRAINS.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 12.—There has been no train from the east since Wednesday. There are two trains at White river blocked with snow. Saturday's train from the west tried to get east yesterday, but met with a snow block at McLean's cut, seven miles from here. The deep cutting was completely filled with snow, the train was unable to proceed after breaking the windows of the cars in trying. Two engines were sent to help the train out and returned here. A train left for the west at three o'clock this afternoon. It is hard to tell when trains will arrive from the east.

AMERICAN NEWS.

Smallpox on the Increase in California---Memorial Services in San Francisco.

Railroad Trouble Extending--A Serious Outlook---A Fatal Dynamite Explosion.

Forty Seamen Reported Lost and Over One Hundred Vessels Wrecked.

A Busy Day.

NEW YORK, March 16.—At Calvary cemetery to-day one hundred and thirty bodies were received for interment. The funerals had been delayed by the storm until to-day.

Storm Casualties.

BALTIMORE, March 16.—News of the damage done by the storm is coming in slowly, but every vessel arriving in port brings the report of some new wreck. From various returns received so far it would seem that not less than forty seamen have lost their lives and that almost one hundred schooners, pungies, sloops and other crafts have either been driven ashore or hopelessly wrecked.

Fatal Dynamite Explosion.

JOLIET, Ills., March 16.—A box of dynamite exploded this afternoon at the Rolling mills, blowing W. M. Greene, who was in charge of the dynamite, to pieces. The explosion was terrific, shaking buildings violently for a distance of two miles. It cannot be learned how the explosion occurred.

Trains All Tied Up.

DENVER, Col., March 16.—Santa Fe trains are all tied up. The engineers are all "tired" or "sick." The men say the company have been handling Burlington cars. A Brotherhood man said he knew that unless the Burlington trouble is soon settled every road west of Chicago will be tied up.

Defining the Word "Strike."

OMAHA, March 16.—The injunction case between the Burlington and Missouri River and the Union Pacific was heard before Judge Dundy to-day. The decision of the court was reserved until to-morrow. During the course of Gen. Cowan's argument on behalf of the engineers the word "strike" was used several times and provoked the following comment from the court: "This word 'strike' is of modern origin. The question is regarding its legal definition, and on that this case may turn. If it means in the case a project to kick up the devil generally, to derail cars, ditch trains, etc., then this court can order a writ of injunction to restrain the injury contemplated. A measure of preventative justice charge of conspiracy is well taken. If, on the other hand, the word in this case is synonimous with the intention of quitting work and quietly walking out, I don't see how this court is going to restrain the action. That is all there is in this case as it stands at present that I can see."

Serious Outlook.

KANSAS CITY, March 16.—At 1 o'clock this afternoon Chairman Carroll, of the Union Grievance Commission, said the men of the Gulf road would all go out at four o'clock and the roads would be tied up, one each day, until the Burlington road agreed to reinstate all of its old men and discharge the new ones. This plan would be continued, if necessary, until every road in the United States was tied up. At 3:30 Mr. Carroll said that a message had been received from Chairman Hotchkins postponing the strike on the Gulf system until he arrived here, which would be within twenty-four hours. This morning a delegation of engineers from the Missouri Pacific appeared before the grievance committee and requested orders to go out, but this was refused. The impression given by the engineers is that the Gulf will go first, then the Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific will fall in line on Sunday. The committee refuse to say what road will be called out to-morrow, but it is undoubtedly the scheme of the Brotherhood to first call out those roads whose stockholders are interested in the Burlington.

Memorial Services.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Services in memory of the late Emperor William were held this evening in the Grand Opera House. Four thousand of our leading social, financial and official citizens accompanied by their wives helped to fill the huge auditorium to its very doors. Addresses were delivered by leading German citizens in their native tongue and were varied by chorals by the various societies who vied with each other in the rendition of the various songs, which were received with great solemnity by the select audience. A tribute from the Krieger Vereins, a society of German veterans, was ordered to be sent to be placed on the tomb of the dead Emperor.

Fighting Shy of the Strike.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—None of the local railroads are handling Chicago, Burlington and Quincy freight at present, and it is therefore unlikely they will be drawn into the fight.

Another Railroad Strike.

SAN BERNADINO, Cal., March 16.—Much excitement is caused by the California Southern railway strike which took effect this morning. The strike is the result of the company handling Chicago, Burlington and Quincy freight.

Smallpox on the Increase.

SACRAMENTO (Cal.), March 16.—The secretary of the state board of health today received a letter from the county clerk of San Diego, in which it is stated that smallpox prevails at San Luis and is spreading rapidly. A letter was also received from Los Angelos stating that smallpox cases are increasing again. Fourteen cases were reported for the week ending March 14th. At San Diego, for same period, eight cases were reported, and at Oceanside six cases and one death.

Engineers "Tired."

PASADENA, March 16.—Local passenger and freight business is entirely suspended on account of the strike on the Santa Fe system. Three engines in the yard were ordered back to Los Angelos this morning. The engineers gave as an excuse for stopping work, that they were "tired."

A Kind of Monopoly.

COLTON (Cal.), March 16.—The Atlantic, Pacific and California Southern roads are idle on account of the engineers' "lay off." The Southern Pacific is getting all the business.

THE MEMORIAL SERVICES.

The German residents of this city honored the memory of the late Emperor yesterday in a manner which reflects upon them the highest degree of credit. The procession, the proceedings at The Victoria, each were in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion. The former was witnessed by hundreds of spectators, almost every available spot along the line of march being occupied, while the theatre, where the memorial services were held, was never in its history known to be so crowded before. In view of the loving relations existing between Germany and Great Britain the presence of "C" Battery in the line of procession was significant, while the warm tributes paid to the dead Kaiser by the various speakers of English origin told of their sympathy with the Fatherland in this, the hour of its sorrow. The German portion of the services, although unintelligible to the great majority of the audience, was heartily appreciated by those for whom it was especially intended, while the grand hymns sung by the Leiderkranz were delightful to all. The prowess of the Emperor William in war was dilated upon by the representative gentleman who addressed the audience, but it was his works of peace, and his noble Christian life and character which were more earnestly told in burning words. A gentle spirit has crossed the Great Divide leaving behind him a memory which will not perish so long as the world lasts.

TREASURY IRREGULARITIES.

Under this heading the Times of last evening discloses, what it has found out to be a "grave irregularity" in the public accounts. That when the facts of this discovery are sifted out it will add another mare's nest to the many for which the Opposition have become so noted of late, in finding, we have little doubt. Until we know exactly what the cause of complaint is it would be useless to discuss it. But that Mr. Beaven and his associates are less desirous of expediting a report of the facts than they are of creating a sensation by vague hints was only too plainly demonstrated in Thursday's debate, when, after the complaint of the leader of the Opposition that he could not get a quorum of the committee together in order to draw up a report, Mr. Allen, who is a member of the Public Accounts committee and whose presence would have made up the quorum, neatly cornered Mr. Beaven by showing that he (Mr. Allen) had been in attendance at the very time when Mr. Beaven said that he had been seeking a quorum, without having been so much as asked to attend.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS.

HON. JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN, in replying to addresses presented to him at Liverpool, said nothing could have been more barbarous than for England to have had recourse to violent methods to settle the Canadian fisheries dispute. He believed that the commission had arrived at a fair and honorable arrangement of which Canada would approve, and could not but think that the American Senate was prepared to meet the treaty on its merits.

INFORMATION has been received by the Minister of Agriculture from the Agent-General of the Province of Victoria, Australia, in London, that nineteen applications have been received from Canada for nearly 19,000 feet of space, including a request from one exhibitor of agricultural machines for a space of 10,000 feet, an extent of space, however, which is in excess of the regulations for a single firm or company. The exhibition opens on August 1st next, and remains open till January 31st, 1890.

THE Liberal members are said to be preparing for vigorous opposition to the proposal to bring Newfoundland into the confederation. It is claimed that it would be a bad thing for the rest of the Dominion, as Newfoundland's expenditure considerably exceeds her income, and moreover that her annexation would tend to produce increased international complications, owing to the French interests involved. On the other hand, it would be a great benefit to confederation, it is claimed, as it would include within the Dominion one of the finest fishing grounds in the world. Its copper mines are also valuable being fifth of the exporting countries of the world. It has one railway 340 miles long. It is not known what motive is influencing the Dominion government, but doubtless the Imperial government considers the time has arrived for Canada, as the leading member of the British empire on this continent, to take charge of British interests throughout America. Possibly the deputation from the West Indies which went to Ottawa a few years ago without success in their efforts to secure admission into the union, may be inclined under present circumstances to try it a second time.

THE TRUMPERY CHARGE AGAINST HON. THEO. DAVIE.

TO THE EDITOR:—The sum and substance of the opposition's case against Mr. Davie for having accepted retainers to defend criminal cases before he became a member of the government, are contained in yesterday evening's Times as follows:

"The representative of the crown cannot admit the principle that one of his sworn advisers has the right and privilege to array himself against the crown."

As applied to a barrister defending a client this position is wholly unsound. The most brilliant and successful lawyer the province ever had was the lamented Mr. Justice Robertson, who was one of the advisers of the crown in the first ministry after confederation. During that time how many criminal cases did he defend? The answer is, every one of any importance. His forensic talent commanded for him the cream of the criminal business. Was he ever met with the flimsy complaint that he had not "the right and privilege to thus array himself against the Crown?" Then Mr. Drake, Q. C., was one of the advisers of the Crown under the Smithe administration for upwards of three years, yet will any of Mr. Davie's assailants deny that Mr. Drake held a score or more of criminal briefs whilst he was thus an adviser of the Crown? With Mr. Robertson and Mr. Drake their retainers were received whilst they held office, yet Mr. Davie is attacked because he received retainers before he ever entered the ministry at all. Could anything be more absurd? Then take Mr. McCreight's case when he was attorney-general. Before he accepted that office he had brought a petition of right for a client against the government. Did he throw it up? No sir. Like a man he fought his client's case against the government, although at the time of fighting it he was Her Majesty's attorney-general. And why should Mr. Davie, who is not attorney-general at all, be blamed for not deserting his helpless Indian clients when he happens to occupy for a temporary purpose the position of a minister of the crown.

GAMBLING IN SALOONS.

TO THE EDITOR:—I have read the evidence of Mr. Bloomfield, the chief of police, given before the licensing court about gambling in public saloons. Don't you think he gave himself away badly? If he knows of the existence of gambling isn't it his duty to report to the council the fact, and if the police cannot go into saloons to stop gambling, why don't he ask to have the law or rule changed? And does the rule prohibit him from entering? It's my opinion that if Mr. Bloomfield wanted to stop these practices he could do so and as he knows of their existence why don't he put them down? I didn't vote for Mr. Higgins for mayor because he didn't do his duty when on the police committee. He must have known that gambling was being carried on with the knowledge of the chief of police and ought to have suspended that officer. Now that the chief has given information against himself, as it were, the present chairman of the police committee should act promptly.

SIGMA.

GOLDEN CORRESPONDENCE.

TO THE EDITOR:—Golden, a railroad town on the Kicking Horse, one mile from the Columbia river, and on the line of the C.P.R., is composed of log houses, with one frame hotel. Twelve are used for dwelling houses, seven used for stables and two as chicken houses. It is situated on a beautiful piece of bottom land at the mouth of the Kicking Horse canyon, where the traveler can gaze on some of the finest scenery on this continent. But as we don't live on scenery here I don't propose to comment on the grandeur of the mountain scenery. All I am going to do is to write a few lines about the Columbia Valley from here to the Columbia Lakes. Twelve miles from Golden is located Pete Lambreck, or "Dutch Pete." He keeps a stopping place, when any traveler should happen along. There is no farming land at this place, consequently he does not raise any farm products. Twenty-five miles from Golden is the famous hog ranch kept by the Hayes Brothers from Oshawa, Ontario. It consists of about seven acres, six of macadamized rock and one acre of good soil. Also all the mountains behind the house. They raise potatoes, turnips, onions and carrots. The summer frost ruined their crop last year, and as there are very few traveling on the trail this winter, Jack Hayes has plenty of time to finish the story that he is engaged on, "My Last Mash, or the Disappointments of a giddy young man." Five miles further on is the Umphries ranch, a piece of rich bottom land. They cultivate about te acres of land. The summer frost killed the potato crop last year. They keep a stopping place also. Forty-five miles from Golden is the Spallumacheen. Fred Wells is camped across the river this winter, where he can be close to his claims up the creek. Malcolm Cameron and Geo. McMillan keep a stopping place and raise a few bushels of potatoes. They have a claim up the Spallumacheen which they are working this winter. Seven miles from Golden is the McKay ranch. These gentlemen have been engaged all last fall freighting with bull trains for the mounted police. Five miles from there is the Lewis ranch. This rancher has got a few cattle and raises potatoes and turnips. The next place is Jim Stuthard's, seven miles from the Columbia Lakes. Jim had good luck last year. By good hard work he raised a small crop of oats and potatoes. He has got several head of nice cattle on his place. On the other side of Stuthard's lives a half-breed named Pierre, who cultivates a nice piece of bottom land. At the lakes, on the north side, Jack Harris, Baptiste Morigeau, Ed. Tegart, M. Clark, Rogers, Eli and several others have got ranches. The seasons are very dry in the lake regions. There is considerable irrigation carried on during crop time. Potatoes, turnips, carrots and onions are raised here. A few oats were raised last fall. It costs a great deal to irrigate the land. Geo. Stark, an old-timer, keeps a hotel at Windermere, at the first lake. George is one of the best hearted men in the country. He always tries to make every one feel at home in his house. Travelers can always get a first-class meal at all hours and a clean bed with a drink of the best corn juice in the country. On the west side of the lake is Brady's ranch. Further to the south is the genuine old hog ranch, Johnston's. It is the nicest place in the valley for a ranch. It is well stocked with nice sleek cattle, horses, hogs and chickens. Old Ed is one of the boys who can dance "Tucker," sing a song or play "Zip Coon" on the fiddle with any rustler on the river. Ed. is always glad to meet any of the boys at his place. He raised a good crop of oats last year. There were two small steamboats on the river last year until the last of September. Then small boats were brought into requisition, as the river gets so low about that time steamboats cannot run. What is wanted is a light draught stern-wheeler that can skim over the sand-bars. Freight was laid down at the lakes for a cent a pound by the steamboats. After they quit running the rates were raised to 3½ cents on the row-boats. This winter a new steamboat is building for the spring trade, and the chances are that freight will be laid down at the lakes for half-a-cent, or less, this spring. The wagon road was a necessity between the Columbia Lakes and Kootenay. I do not see the necessity of extending the road to Golden, for with the cheap rates by the boats, goods can be put off at any place along the river. It will be a waste of money to finish it. No sane man is going to come to Golden from the lakes with a team to haul goods back when he can get it at his door so cheap. There is one thing that the people of this valley don't endorse, and that is the attack on Judge Vowell's administration. I have lived in the district since '82, and I never heard anyone kick because Mr. Vowell spent money for public improvements. There are lots of things Judge Vowell could do against us. For instance, every man that kept a stopping place and sold corn juice on the quiet could be arrested and made pay license fees. Again, every man that ran a boat last year freighting, could be made to take out a license, or any one that packed or hauled a load up the river could be made to take out a license. The judge knows what it is for men to try and make a start in a new country. I, for one, thank him for giving us such a good chance. I see he is attacked by a writer from Golden in the Victoria Times about the Kootenay bridge and wagon road. The writer never saw the bridge or wagon road. The Spallumacheen is the farthest he has been up the valley. I must say he is very good authority to attack any one. The people know he tried to get the Kootenay bridge contract, and failing to get it he starts in about the grandeur of the mountains and winds up about the immorality at Donald. When this pilgrim arrived here from the east he cast a withering glance over the valley and said all this has got to be changed, and what I say must be done, for I am the Moses of the Kootenay. Now, Moses, you know there are no bull-rushes in this country. How would you like to play the cradle racket? There is no Miss Pharoah to go sloshing around in the sloughs in mud knee deep, looking for a dimpled darling about your size. The slough grass is not tall enough to hide your head, which looks like Canyon Creek after a heavy rain, swelled. The nights are too cold at present, and when it gets warm the mosquitoes would make it too interesting for you. Ah, there! Moses! how you do like to josh. You must get up something modern. The bull rush racket is too stale. Confine your remarks to mining. Practice a little with a pick and shovel; that will relieve your overcharged head of a great load. The claims on Jubilee Mountain won't be developed by talking about Donald. The rounders or prostitutes in Donald will not molest you. There are plenty of men here to protect you from any woman or girls in that town. Go tackle that coyote hole on the richest mineral deposit in the Selkirk range and give your head a rest. Well, Moses took a tumble when the light went out, and I would advise you to take one before it goes out on you.

I would suggest that the government after completing the wagon road should plant magnolia, orange, lemon, sweet locust, fig and coconut trees, sweet scented herbs, all kinds of flowers and the famous roses from the plains of flowers in Turkey, with imported birds of paradise, mocking birds from the south, nightingales from England, and all the beautiful song birds from the tropics: also, that beautiful fountains be built every mile so that when the Moses of the Kootenay should go to the greatest mineral lead in the world there will be nothing harsh to meet his eye or nothing offensive to shock his olfactory nerves. Then, again, the government should employ twenty-five young lads under twelve years to act as heralds to proclaim to the cayotes, owls, skunks and mountain rats the approach of the Moses of the Kootenay. Erect at Golden a large telescope, something similar to the Lick telescope on Mount Hamilton, California, so that the passengers on the C.P.R. can gaze on Mount Jubilee with open-mouthed wonder and astonishment. Come on, you bloated Yankee and British capitalists, and invest your money in the greatest aggregation of rocks on the American continent. One word to the second-hand Moses: Don't try and work your claim from the sitting room in the Kootenay House, but get out and rustle. Your taffy is no good. We know it is no good. You had better shake hands with a pick and shovel or else vamoose.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS

A Scaly, Itching, Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200 00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring-worm, psoriasis, etc. I took .....and....Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200 00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

TALK ABOUT CROOKS.

THEY ENTER PRISON TIME ON PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT.

The Professional Criminal's Philosophy. A Thief's Real Sentiments—No Honor Among the Craft, Except Through Necessity—Dying in Poverty—Nonsense.

"Thieves—I mean professional thieves, criminals of the higher grade"—said Maj. Lawrence Harrigan, appraiser of the port, "pursue their crooked career with the same feelings that honest men follow their daily vocations. The business man expects a certain percentage of losses during the year, just as he has reason to believe that he will meet with unexpected gains. These losses or gains are entered up in the profit and loss account. The professional thief or criminal philosophically argues to himself: 'What I gain I gain easily, and I must be prepared to serve a portion of my years in prison. If it is little, so much the better for me; if it is much, so much the worse for me.' "

"Yes, sir," he resumed, "the thief looks upon his terms in jail or the penitentiary as so much lost in the game. He is a thief, and next to devising ways and means to acquire without labor the property that belongs to others, his mind is bent on devising ways and means to keep out of prison. He is like a man playing at cards—he wins or loses. I recall an instance that illustrates what I say: One morning, at about 5 o'clock, after waiting out all night, I arrested a notorious hotel sneak. As soon as I put my hands on him he knew what he was wanted for. There was a dead case against him, and when I touched him on the shoulder and said that the captain wanted to see him, I have no doubt that he made up his mind to plead guilty and get off as cheaply as possible. It was in winter, and as we walked together down Morgan street on the way to the police station, we passed an old cobbler's shop. Early as it was, and a bitter cold morning it was, too, I well remember, the old fellow was up, pegging away at his work by candle light. The thief glanced in at the industrious shoemaker, and then said to me:

" 'I have spent seven of the past twelve years in prison, and yet I have done better than that old fellow. He works from early morning until late at night to get his bread and meat, and then he does not live as well as I do in prison, and when I am on the outside I live on the fat of the land, with plenty of good clothes, gay companions and everything that money can buy. I wouldn't trade places with him him right now, and I know that I am booked for a trip up the road.'

"The fact is that all thieves are men of appetite. They do not steal for the sake of stealing. They want money with which to gratify their passions. If the passion is not for women—and it most always is—it is for cards or drink. The thief, when in funds, lavishes it on his woman or leaves it at the card table. Some of the shrewdest and most adroit thieves are the veriest children in the hands of a faro dealer. Say a thief who has often talked about 'squaring it,' as they call reforming, does get several thousand dollars, what good does it do him? Women, wine and cards get it in short order, and he must go to stealing again. These things he must have. He won't work for his money, so he continues to steal. There have undoubtedly been cases of reform, and many a small town has its hotel or saloon keeper held in esteem as an honest man by all who know him, and yet that man has a history which he would like to forget. A police officer is not much of a believer in reformations."

"These people are very honorable in their dealings with each other, are they not?"

"You mean 'honor among thieves?' There is no such thing. Thieves make a virtue of necessity. They are known to each other all over the land. Any thief knows that if he should 'squeal,' or betray a brother thief, he would at once be a marked man, and that the entire fraternity would make it their business to see him 'settled,' or, in other words, convicted for some one of his own crimes, and that right speedily. A great deal of sentimental admiration is wasted over these men who honorably refuse to betray their companions. Thieves are like any other class of men. They have their friendships. A man would go to extremes to help his 'pal' out of trouble, while as for another thief in whom he had no personal interest he would say, 'He got into that trouble himself, let him get out himself.'

"You may put it down as a rule that no matter how successful they are, they either die in the penitentiary or the poor house. All this stuff about thieves leading a double life, one of crime and the other in good society; of their wives supposing that they are engaged in reputable business, is good material for novels and plays like "Jim, the Penman," but there are no such cases. The professional thief does not aspire to any such life. His origin is always low. He commenced stealing when a boy, and his education was perfected in the House of Refuge, jail, work house and penitentiary. Up to the time that he is sent to the penitentiary he is apt to be desperate and reckless and undertakes jobs that an older hand would hesitate about engaging in. When he comes out he is more cautious. He comes from the slums, and is brave and shrewd, just as the women of his own class are often of surpassing beauty and seeming refinement; beautiful green and golden flies born in the muck heap. Men of position very rarely sink to a life of professional crime. If they do they become forgers and swindlers, but in nine cases out of ten even this class of criminals have worked their way up to their exalted position in the fraternity.

"New York is, of course, the headquarters of all thieves of the upper class. There are a dozen quiet little places where the beer is good, where they congregate and plan their little excursions into the country. One can almost imagine a gang of burglars sitting down and mapping out a route just like the manager of a show that is to make one and two night stands. A great deal of nonsense has been written about thieves having grips and passwords and a language of their own. They just naturally drift together, and instinctively know each other. Their Masonry is involuntary. They talk 'shop' when together, just as a lot of printers or telegraph operators or shoemakers do. They exchange information as to 'fences' and 'hang outs,' and then when landing in a strange city they know where to go to meet their own kind."—Globe-Democrat.

Cavalry of the Confederacy.

The cavalry of the Confederate States was different in its organization and character to any cavalry that has been seen in modern war. The infantry regiments of the south possessed, though in less degree than those of the north, some nucleus of trained or partially trained men in the various militia organizations. With the cavalry the case was different. The number of cavalrymen who on joining their commands knew anything about cavalry tactics was extremely small. But on two essential points they needed no instruction; all knew how to ride, and all were familiar with the use of their weapons.

With the northern man it was, as a general rule, otherwise; he had nearly always to be taught how to ride, and he had generally to be taught how to shoot. Thus it happened that from the opening of hostilities the southern trooper showed his superiority over his northern opponent—a superiority which he maintained until the ceaseless attrition of war reduced the cavalry commands of the Confederacy to mere skeletons—actually as well as metaphorically—and enabled the northern horsemen to prevail by virtue of overwhelming numbers, sufficient supplies and the training which they had acquired through years of campaigning, which had been, till near the close, generally disastrous to them.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Boston's "Saturday Club."

The Saturday club of Boston has lived through more than forty years of prosperity, partly, perhaps, because it has had no such impediments as constitution or bylaws. It was one Saturday twenty years ago or more that a guest at the club table asked what were the qualifications necessary to membership—the "conditions precedent." They had never been formulated, and all instinctively turned to Mr. Emerson. He thought a moment and answered: "No man can be a member here whose presence would exclude any topic." Was ever such hospitality to thought? Exclude men, if need be, but no "topic." No wonder the club has thriven. It has a grand and positive reason for living, while there are clubs that cannot even offer a decent excuse.—Boston Herald.

Doctors Dying Out.

Accustomed as we are in America to the overcrowding of the professions, as if by a law of nature, it seems scarcely conceivable that in a country like France the numbers of the medical profession are actually diminishing, notwithstanding the increase of population. In the four years 1883-6 the number of diplomas annually granted by the medical schools of France steadily diminished from 662 to 546, while the number of physicians was also as steadily reduced, of course, by retirement and death. The phenomenon is partly explained by the circumstances that the falling off is in the rural districts, where French thrift, with penury and "proprietary medicines," would naturally tend to starve out the practitioner.—Medical Record.

Clubs of All Sorts.

There are clubs of all sorts and character in New York. The tall men have a club called the Titans. The men who wish to show themselves superior to superstition have formed themselves into a club of thirteen. The southerners club together and so do the New Englanders, the fat men and the Scotchmen. The athletes and the artists all meet together in associations for their own encouragement and improvement. It is even reported from Paris that a near sighted club has been formed there.—N. Y. World.

A MYSTERIOUS POWER.

A Wonderful Remedy for a Wonderful Age.

Electro-Magnetism, the wonder of the age, and the mode of treatment is the acme of perfection. It penetrates the secret ambush of diseases and exterminates them, root and branch, forever. It removes the wretched symptoms of loathsome maladies and averts its dreadful effects. It removes more agony and silent suffering than tongue can tell. It cures the most hopeless cases and relieves acute pains that every known means have failed in, which can be substantiated by the evidence of thousands of persons who have been cured by Drs. Darrin, Electro-Magnetic physicians, at the International hotel, Seattle, W. T., where they are treating scores of patients daily. The following are a few open letters that speak for themselves, and many more could be added did not the want of space forbid:

SEATTLE, W. T., March 14, 1888.

Drs. Darrin, Gentlemen:—I now take the pleasure of writing you that after a full course of your electro-magnetic treatment I am entirely cured of a pain in my chest which has troubled me for over eight years. Having been under treatment by doctors of Liverpool, Glasgow, Calcutta and San Francisco, none of them did me any good until I came under your treatment, which I am sure has permanently cured me, for which, gentlemen, I beg to remain gratefully yours, WM. LITTLE.

PORT MADISON, Mar. 12, 1888.

Dear Dr. Darrin:—I now take the pleasure of dropping you a line, informing you that I am entirely cured of the cancerous affection of the tongue. It had been pronounced incurable by all physicians that had examined it, and I applied to you out of curiosity to see what you could do, and to my great surprise I found relief from the first treatment, which I have continued until I am now entirely cured, as I have above stated. I have recommended my afflicted friends far and near to go and see you, and I gladly give my name to you for publication if it will do you any good. Yours respectfully,

M. E. DAY.

Mr. Editor, Dear Sir:—About four months ago I was taken with a severe pain in the sciatic nerve which caused a great deal of suffering. I came to Drs. Darrin, Seattle, W. T., and consulted them, and they said that I could be cured. I put myself under their electro-magnetic treatment. Now after a few weeks' course I find myself cured. I cheerfully recommend the doctors to the afflicted, whoever may need their services. Can be referred to at Palace Restaurant, W. T.

JOHN M. ROMEYER.

Mr. Editor—Dear Sir: My little boy has been deaf since he was 16 months old, and was so deaf that he has never learned to talk and is now 5 years old. I had consulted a great many physicians and none could do anything for him and said that his hearing could never be restored. As a last hope I consulted the Drs. Darrin, at the International hotel, Cherry street, in his case, and they said that they could cure him. Now, after three treatments, the child's hearing is almost entirely restored, and he seems to be dazed by the sound. Through thankfulness and gratitude to the doctors, and for the sake of others that may be afflicted, I give this testimonial to the public. I can be referred to at the corner of Fort and Vine streets, Seattle, W.T.

MRS. MEVIE GEBFORT.

MR. EDITOR: Dear Sir—For over a year I have been afflicted with liver and kidney trouble, accompanied by a stomach difficulty, with great bloating of the abdomen, etc., and for over six years I have not had a good night's sleep. I have been under the treatment of most every doctor in the country, but without relief. As a last hope I was persuaded to consult the Drs. Darrin. After the first treatment I felt instantaneous relief, and now after a thorough course of their electro-magnetic treatment I am entirely well, and for the first time in years enjoy perfect health. I gladly recommend the doctors to the public, as their ability to perform cures is without a question, as I saw many others cured while under treatment. E. L. STRAHL.

DOCTORS TERMS FOR TREATMENT.

Drs. Darrin can be consulted free at the International Hotel, Cherry street, between Second and Third, and will under no circumstances take a case that they are positive they cannot cure or benefit. Charges are reasonable, and the poor treated free from 9 to 10 a. m., Tuesdays and Saturdays.

Office hours from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12.

They cure permanently all diseases of the genito-urinary organs, in either sex, and make a specialty of deafness and catarrh, and also treat successfully all diseases of the nose and throat, eye and ear, etc., as well as all acute and chronic diseases of whatever name or nature, if curable. No cases taken if not.

Cross-eyes straightened in 1 to 10 minutes.

Youthful indiscretion and loss of manhood, seminal weakness, loss of desire of sexual power in man or woman, are successfully treated by the electro-magnetic system.

Most cases can receive home treatment after a few days at the doctor's office.

Drs. Darrin have a system of home treatment for parties living at a distance, thus saving them time and expense by writing symptoms, age, sex, etc.

Unlike other physicians who have become eminent in their professions, the doctors' charges are extremely moderate, being only ten dollars for six treatments of such disease, or in that proportion, as the case may require.

Circulars sent free to any address. Inquiries answered.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, oftens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.' and take no other. d&w

A LIFE INTEREST,

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

Mr. Acland, a highly respectable business man in London, takes his stepson, Dick Cranston, in his office, against the latter's will, but upon the urgent request of Mrs. Acland, whose first marriage is supposed to have been very unhappy, as she never refers to it. Upon a certain day Mr. Blake misses a sum of money from his safe, which Dick Cranston is suspected of taking. Against the advice of his friends, Dick then leaves his stepfather's house; 25c.—For sale by B. C. Stationery Company, next door to P. O. *

LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL.

A New Year's Caller.

The year 1889 will be ushered in by a total eclipse of the sun, visible here on January 1st.

Why can a bachelor keep Lent easier than a married man. A bachelor is always a-loan.

The Squatter's Committee.

It is understood that all the evidence to the case of the squatters on land at Granville is in and that the committee will meet on Monday to consider their report.

Easter Fair.

Full particulars of the grand Easter fair to be held on Tuesday, April 3d, in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, will be given in a day or so. Look out for it; special attractions.

Baptist Church.

Mr. Cairns, the evangelist, will preach in the Baptist Church on Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Subject of sermons—Morning, "The Christ Life;" Evening, "Looking to Jesus." All are invited.

Incoming Passengers.

The following Victoria passengers are on board the Umatilla, which left San Francisco last evening: D. A. Creighton, M. S. McDonald, G. Lee and wife, J. Tift, Mrs. H. Dewey, H. W. Roberts, S. C. Mott, Miss A. M. Reed, S. J. Mendall, Chan Sung Chin, Quan and wife.

Fire Department Horses.

The fire wardens are considering the advisability of stationing horses in the Tiger fire hall, and purpose to build stables similar to those in the Deluge hall. The police, being stationed in the upper story, are strongly opposed to having horses quartered in the building.

St. Patrick's Day.

To-day is the anniversary of Ireland's patron saint. Services will be held in St. Andrew's pro-cathedral at 8 and 10:30 o'clock a.m., an appropriate sermon being delivered at the latter service. Doubtless, many loyal Irishmen will observe the old custom of "drowning the shamrock," and sport a bit of green either in their hats or on their coats.

Wedding at Langley.

The society event of the season at Langley took place on Wednesday night. The occasion was the marriage of Mr. Jas. M. Drummond, manager of the Hudson Bay post at Langley, to Ida Emma, the only daughter of Mr. Wilson Towle, a well-known farmer of the same place. The bridegroom is a brother of Mr. R. F. Drummond, of the railway postal service, who resides in New Westminster.

For the Northern Canneries.

The steamer Barbara Boscowitz, Capt. Williams, left for Fort Simpson and way ports last evening, with the following passengers: Messrs. Grahame, gold commissioner of Cassiar, M. H. Cowan, S. A. Spencer, six Indians and forty Chinese, thirty of whom are for Cowan, Shaw & Co.'s cannery. She had a full freight of tin, salt and cannery supplies, and one cow for the B. A. P. Co.

Paper Chase.

There will be a paper chase this afternoon weather permitting. The start will take place from the electric light post at the head of Fort street at 3 o'clock punctually. Being the first run of the season it is not intended to attempt a long course and all lovers of exercise are invited to take advantage of this excellent opportunity. Messrs. C. C. Pemberton and W. H. Langley will be the hares.

A New Road.

Many inhabitants of Esquimalt district have petitioned the government to lay out a road to connect Esquimalt road with the railway bridge across Victoria harbor. The member for the district favors the movement and previous to the signing of the petition had drawn the attention of the government to the necessity of the suggested means of communication. The petition will strengthen the member's efforts.

Death of an Estimable Lady.

Mrs. Frances Boucherat, beloved wife of Mr. J. Boucherat, of Boucherat & Co., died yesterday morning at the family residence, Pemberton street. The deceased lady was a native of Bath, Somersetshire, England, and was aged 66 years. She had not been in good health for some time past, and her death was unexpected. The funeral will take place from Pemberton street at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and from St. John's church at 2:30.

A Bad Man.

A well-known individual who has figured in the police court in a case where a woman was concerned, and who carries on a semi-itinerant business with headquarters on one of the principal streets, has lately placed himself in a discreditable position. It seems that he has been in the habit of employing young girls to wait in his shop, but paid more attention to these employees than was requisite. Recently he made indecent proposals to a young girl employed by him, and the latter informed her mother who, having taken her away, gave the old reprobate a "piece of her mind." He would have been proceeded against were it not for the unpleasant notoriety in such a case. It is said that he stated to the girl she was not his first victim. It is a pity the wretch cannot be shown up in his true light to the public.

Experience of Mr. Jones.

Mr. Jones, the representative of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, has had a peculiar experience, having been arrested on suspicion of being Tascott, as mentioned in Thursday's COLONIST. The circumstances as related in last evening's Times are almost wholly inaccurate. The facts are these: A ship carpenter named Ward noticed that Jones answered the description published, and while in the Oriental hotel Ward asked him to step outside. Here a policeman asked him to go up and see Chief Bloomfield. Neither the latter nor Sergeant Sheppard were at the station, but the Sergeant arriving about thirty-five minutes after, asked him if he could prove his identity, and Mr. Jones mentioning several names of well-known citizens, the Sergeant was proceeding down town when the Chief arrived, who also assented to the Sergeant's move. The two proceeded to the office of the Northern Pacific and Mr. Blackwood, the agent, stated that he had known Mr. Jones for two years, whereupon the Sergeant said he was satisfied and Mr. Jones and he walked to the steamer, where the latter secured his papers. Mr. Jones was not formally arrested, was detained less an hour, and the novel in the Times is manufactured from the imagination of its fire-eating reporter. The statement that Sergt. Sheppard accosted him on the street is untrue. Mr. Jones stopped the Sergeant, gave him one of his valuable papers, and passed on.

TWENTY-EIGHTH DAY.

FRIDAY, March 16th.

Mr. Speaker took the chair at 2:20 o'clock.

Prayers were said by the Rev. Donald Fraser.

GERMAN MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Hon. Mr. Robson moved, seconded by Mr. Beaven, the following resolution:

"Whereas, it has pleased the Supreme Ruler to remove the late Emperor of Germany from his earthly sphere of usefulness;

And, whereas, the great German people are of kindred race with ourselves, the two nations united upon strong and, it is hoped, enduring terms of friendship, and their respective sovereigns bound together by the closest friendly ties;

Therefore, be it resolved that this house, out of respect to the memory of the late Emperor of Germany, and in recognition of his many public and private virtues, do now adjourn for the purpose of attending the memorial services this afternoon in his honor."

Carried.

House adjourned until Monday.

FOR BEHRING'S SEA.

The Sapphire Clears for the Sealing Grounds—Indians State That They will Fire on the Americans if Attacked.

The schooner Sapphire, Capt. Petit, left yesterday morning for the sealing grounds, clearing for Behring's sea. Capt. Petit will go into the sea with a hunting crew of sixty Indians, and intends to protect himself if molested by American cutter pirates. The captain had command of the schooner Grace, seized last year, and it was with difficulty he restrained the Indians from firing on the American crew. This year the Indians state that they will kill every man who attempts to cross the schooner's rail. Owing to the failure of the Indians in securing supplies for the year on account of losses by the seizures, during the winter they have been reduced to a state of semi-starvation and are desperate. Some Indians who recently arrived from the West Coast in this city state that when they left there was not a pound of flour in their whole tribe, and they induced Carne & Munsie to send down a large quantity of flour in the Pathfinder to feed their families while absent seal-hunting, to be paid for out of the coming season's wages. There are other captains and crews who state if they are molested by American cutters on the high seas they will protect their vessels to the death, as they think that is about the only way which they can rightly defend their interests. It is feared that sanguinary results will follow if the sealers are molested.

CAPTAIN WHITE'S DOWNFALL.

Further Particulars of the Popular Young Mariner's Disappearance.

Tacoma Ledger: Capt. Frank White, of the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company's steamer Premier, who is missing, together with $2,300 of the company's funds, is believed to have headed for Helena, where the soiled dove generally known as the Queen of Diamonds, who is supposed to be in his company, was formerly mistress of a disreputable house. Captain White's disappearance is inexplicable. He is a young man and had the best position of any steamer master north of San Francisco. He was receiving $3,000 per year and all of his expenses paid, and his company placed implicit confidence in him. He was soon to have gone to Scotland to bring out a new steamer, which will be the finest on the Pacific coast. She is to be put on the Victoria-Portland route and Captain White was to have charge of her. He was the company's favorite captain and had been advanced over the heads of gray-haired masters in their service. He had a pleasant home in Victoria and was one of the most popular men in British Columbia, always a hale fellow, well met and a gentleman. Although young in years he was one of the most skillful mariners on the coast. His downfall is doubtless due to the wiles of a bewitching and unscrupulous woman. He was generally considered the soul of honor. Even the night before his disappearance he delivered to a Seattle party $800 that had been entrusted to him. Captain White's father was, during his life, one of the head masters at Yale college.

SUPREME COURT.

[Before the full court—Crease, McCreight and Walkem, J. J.]

FRIDAY, March 16, 1888.

Attorney-General of B. C. vs. Canadian Pacific railway and others.

The appeal by the C. P. R. against the order of the Chief Justice allowing a demurrer to so much of the defendant's statement of defense as alleged the injunctions of the court as a defense to the action to recover the amount of the bond given by Sir Donald A. Smith, R. B. Angus and Sanford Fleming to ensure the fulfillment of the contract of the railway company with the government, came on for hearing yesterday.

Mr. Charles Wilson, on behalf of the Attorney-General, raised two preliminary objections. First, that the appeal was from an interlocutory and not a final order, hence the appeal was to the Divisional court and not to the full court. The court overruled the objections.

Mr. Drake, Q. C., opened the case for the company, and the court without argument held that the statement of defense required amendment and adjourned until this morning when by consent an order was made allowing the demurrer and dismissing the appeal with costs, with liberty to all parties to amend their pleadings.

Mr. Charles Wilson for the Attorney-General; Mr. Drake, Q. C., and Mr. Helmcken for the C. P. R. Co.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Judge Harrison.)

A couple of drunks were each fined $5 or one week for being drunk.

Mrs. Quinn was charged with stealing about fifty pounds of coal from the road roller on Church Hill. Discharged with a caution.

L. Burgess, carrying on business as a fruiterer on the corner of Broad and Yates street, was charged with an infraction of the building by-law.

Mr. Walker appeared for the defence and claimed that under the summary jurisdiction act of Canada a stipendiary magistrate had no power to try cases for infraction of municipal by-laws.

The case was laid over for one day.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The delayed eastern train reached Winnipeg yesterday. Last night's steamer brought mails west of Winnipeg only.

Mr. Thos. Mowat left for Harrison Lake yesterday for the purpose of placing 150,000 salmon fry in those waters. The hatchery will be relieved of several millions of fry within the next two months.

Jimmy Chickens and his wife Jenny were arrested last evening by Officer Mitten and Special Officer Monroe. Cause: The old, old story—too much firewater. Jimmy is seldom out of gaol, and when he gets "jugged" his better half, Jenny, is never contented until she is with her lord under lock and key.

by the German people, through their rulers, Emperor of Germany. How the son must have felt as he thought of his mother. How the man must have felt as he remembered his youth. How the Emperor must have felt, in that hour, as he remembered himself as a Prince of but a small state, hardly known to all the world. The day of retribution had come. The nephew of the man who overthrew his parents was his prisoner. William the First had realized what German men of letters had dreamt about. He made a fact of the ideal dreams of German poets. He had a united Germany; was ruler of a powerful nation, and held the balance of power in all Europe. He has never abused that great power. Although bred a soldier all his life he was a man of peace, and maintained peace to his last hour by his will alone. We, who are Germans, ought to be proud to have lived in his time, to have known him. We have seen him who forty years before was hated as no other man, turn that hate into love by his people and esteem by all the world. Step by step he fought and has won. He now enjoys that peace which he so well deserves. We who read the deeds of Frederick the Great, and are brought thereby more to love our country, if that were possible, know that our children for generations to come will love our home country for the deeds that were done by Emperor William. He has gone to his reward, peace to his ashes. But though removed from this earth, so long as German tongue is spoken, so long as there is a German heart, so long as there will be a Fatherland, so long will gratefully be remembered Kaiser Wilhelm, the Victorious.

Hon. Mr. Robson was then called upon and said that in the few remarks he was about to make it would scarcely be necessary to dwell upon the wonderful career and private virtues of him whose death had given rise to the present gathering, for these had been alluded to by a previous speaker, and were familiar in every household. Germany, although chief mourner, was not alone, Britain, Europe, the whole civilized world sustained a loss in the death of the late Emperor. He had, in a manner, held the balance of power in Europe,—was the arbiter of peace or war. His own words were said to be "I am a man of peace," and the nations had reason to be thankful that he was. Remembering the intense anxiety about his successor, which filled the mind of the Emperor during his last days, it seems not altogether unfitting to allude to the new Emperor. Frederick the III. was in every way eminently fitted to be the successor of such an Emperor. Every inch a soldier and a Christian gentleman, his equal for such a position could not be found the world over; and it did seem providential that when his father passed away he himself was, as it were, snatched back, to all human appearance, from the very portals of death to fill the vacant place. Heaven grant he may long be spared to fill it. Standing, as it were, at the open grave of the great and good Emperor, it was most fitting that we should clasp hands with our German kinsfolks, mingle our tears of sympathy with theirs, and send up one common prayer: God bless Fatherland, God bless Frederick III.,—Unser Fritz!

The Liederkranz then sang the late Emperor's favorite hymn "Ein Feste Burg ist unser Gott," after which Mayor Grant in a few remarks referred to the fact that there were many reasons why they should meet together and join in this memorial service. He dwelt upon the high principles which the late Emperor had laid down for his guidance during life and which he strictly adhered to. These were principles which might be adopted by all with profit. The late Emperor's early life and several incidents therein were recounted. His worship paid a high tribute to the wisdom of the course adopted in the selection of men to aid the Emperor in guiding the affairs of state. It was chiefly due to the strength of will and force of character of Emperor William that Germany to-day occupied a foremost place among the nations of the earth. He would add his prayer to those who had preceded him that the richest blessing of heaven might be the portion of the newly-crowned Emperor.

Mr. Sehl thanked the audience for the sympathy shown by them to their German fellow-citizens by their attendance and by the expressions which had fallen from the English speakers that afternoon.

The Liederkranz then sang the National Anthem and the assembly dispersed.

Ship Hercules, 1,279 tons, built at Bath in 1868, has been sold to Capt. Geo. Morrissey, of St. John, N. B.

Schooner Alfred Adams, of Victoria, 75 tons, Capt. McCarthy, has completed repairs, and it was expected she would leave Messrs. Leamy & Kyle's floating dock on Coal Harbor yesterday morning.

Capt. John McCarthy and Mr. H. Munden, of Moodyville, have decided to build a schooner, to be named "Venture," for the sealing trade in Behring's Sea, and the keel has already been laid at Messrs. Leamy & Kyle's yard on Coal Harbor.

By the barkentine Amelia it is learned at San Francisco on Wednesday that the bark C. O. Whitmore arrived at Honolulu from Port Townsend after an extremely rough passage. She left the latter port on January 7th. About January 14th she had a terrible storm, southwesterly gales, and tremendously heavy seas from the northwest and southwest, and had to lie to for twenty-four hours. Seas broke over the ship, shifting the deck load. Two sails were blown away and one boat was broken. Afterwards she was delayed by calms, southerly and southwesterly gales, and strong winds.
